WILLIAM G HORTON

William G. Horton Corporation, Toronto, Ontario, Canada
www.wgharb.com

William G Horton practices as an arbitrator in international and Canadian business disputes. Prior to establishing his current practice, he served as head of litigation at two major Canadian law firms. He has been appointed tribunal chair, sole arbitrator and party nominee in over 130 substantial disputes. He has served in all these capacities in both ad hoc and institutional arbitrations. His arbitration appointments include cases involving oil and gas and alternative energy disputes, nuclear facilities, mining, telecom, satellite and wireless industry disputes, government privatisation contracts, national advertising campaigns, cross-border distribution agreements, software licensing and other intellectual property and shareholder agreements.

Mr Horton is former chair of the international litigation committee of the International Bar Association, the former co-chair of ADR Chambers' international and commercial panels, a fellow of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators, a former executive member of ICC Canada and is on the arbitration rosters of numerous international arbitration institutions including ICDR, CPR Institute, CIETAC, and ADR Institute of Canada. He also serves on the arbitration rosters under the Canada Transportation Act and the Independent Electricity Suppliers of Ontario. Until recently he served as a member of the NAFTA 2022 committee. He is Editor in Chief of the Canadian Arbitration and Mediation Journal and Course Director and principal instructor of the Toronto Commercial Arbitration Society Gold Standard® Course on Commercial Arbitration. He chairs the Arbitration Act Reform Committee of TCAS.
